

Copyright Notice

Any intellectual property including, but not limited to logos, slogans, webpage content, content within purchased sessions, images, or other graphics (collectively, "IP") developed in whole or in part by The Pelvic Floor Place (herein referred to as "TPFP") used on ThePelvicFloorPlace.com or on any of TPFP's social media platforms is exclusive property of TPFP and is protected by copyright.

Virtual Distribution of Intellectual Property:

Any IP publicly shared on the TPFP's social media platforms or public website pages is granted to be distributed by way of any social media account or blog, be it personal or business, under these terms:

- (1) If the TPFP logo and/or website is included in the graphic, it must remain intact when distributed.
- (2) If distributing IP where TPFP logo or website does not exist, credit to TPFP must be given.
- (3) The original material is not modified or amended in any way.
- (4) You may share these in any reasonable manner, but not in any way that suggests the licensor endorses you or your use.

Any IP shared in a paid session, be it written, in video, or photo, is not granted to be virtually reproduced or virtually distributed in any way.

Physical Distribution of Intellectual Property:

Any IP publicly shared on the TPFP's social media platforms or public website pages is not granted to be physically distributed in any manner, be it personal or professional.

If you are a professional seeking material to distribute, please contact us to discuss this at thepfplace@gmail.com.

Amendment:

TPFP reserves the right to ask you to remove any IP which is representing TPFP in an unworthy manner as deemed by TPFP in its sole and absolute discretion. This can include but is not limited to misrepresenting the company, its reputation, its interests, its intent or its educational material.
